

21 October 2025

Dialogue

9-11am UK time/10am-12 noon SA time

Garden Room, St Edmund's College,
University of Cambridge UK and online for SU/other participants

Reflective Workshop:

1-3pm UK time/2-4pm SA time

Reflective Workshop - as above

(Cambridge) OR Room 439, 4th Floor
Faculty of Arts Building Stellenbosch

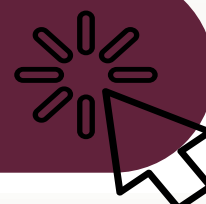

RESEARCH ENGAGEMENT DIALOGUE SERIES (REDS₃)

Communities as custodians of care

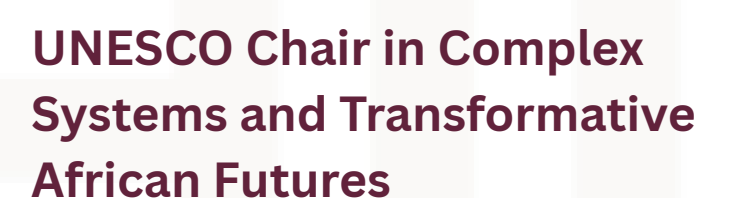

In this highly relevant dialogue, we focus on communities as custodians of care, of the good, of peace. Dorcas Ettang will give a big-picture perspective, on communities as responsible for violence prevention and creating safer spaces for vulnerable groups, including women who have experienced GBV. Drawing on examples from various global contexts that employ community-based responses, challenges and opportunities will be highlighted. Complementing this, Nqobile Msomi shares how principles of community psychology can promote inclusion and collective wellbeing in higher education settings, reflecting on South Africa and the UK. She will explore what a sense of belonging and community mean for diverse graduate students. Thereafter, a futures-oriented reflective workshop helps us unpack the transformational potential of this theme to solidarity and peace.

For more info: unescopeacechair@sun.ac.za.

RSVP HERE

In partnership with:

Speakers:

Prof Dorcas Ettang
UNESCO Co-Chair on Education for Peace, Acting
Director International
Centre of Nonviolence, DUT

Dr Nqobile Msomi
Chartered Psychologist and Director of Student
Wellbeing at St Edmund's,
Cambridge, Research
Associate Rhodes University